By JACK C. VENTIMIGLIA
Executive Editor

GRANITE CITY An Army training center could be placed here and the effort is being supported by Congressman Melvin Price, D-East St. Louis.

The Army confirmed yesterday it is looking at 21 possible locations in the Midwest for its Army Reserve Readiness Training Center. The center reportedly train thousands of reservists annually.

"The congressman has contacted me to see what we can do," said Eric Wirth, the congressman's Washington legislative assistant. "I don't know how soon a decision will be reached, but you can be sure the congressman is very much interested in the project and involved in it."

Price is the ranking member of the House Armed Services Committee and serves as the committee's chairman emeritus.

The training center is presently located at Ft. McCoy, Wis. An Army spokesman in St. Louis, Howard Demere, confirmed Friday the Army is studying the St. Louis Army Supply Center in Granite City as a possible relocation site.

The study is being conducted by the Army Forces Command in Ft. McPherson, Ga.

Wherever the center locates, the Army will need civilian contractors for construction. Specific dollar amounts for work needed and information concerning the potential economic impact will be available from the Georgia headquarters at press time.

No date has been set for completion of site studies, nor has a date been set for center's relocation from Ft. McCoy.

The site considered at the Granite City supply center does not include tract six, a controversial piece of Army property the base would like to keep, but an area communities would like to see relinquished to private investors for development.

A. O. Smith cars rolling to dealers

GRANITE CITY Automobiles partially produced at the A.O. Smith Corp. plant in Granite City will be in Ford showrooms Dec. 26.

Stan Lindquist, vice president of operations for the Plain Motor Co. has announced the day after Christmas as a tentative date for the unveiling of the Ford Taurus at dealerships across the country.

THE PLANT RECEIVED a minor setback, however. Lindquist said work that is Chrysler mid-size truck for 1987 will not be produced here, as had been planned originally.

Because of "a changing market situation," Lindquist said, that model will now be produced at A.O. Smith's corporate headquarters in Milwaukee.

He is in the process of looking for a replacement for that model," Lindquist said. "We aren't ready to announce yet, but we are hoping to have something soon."

IT'S GETTING THERE. The Quad-City area's first water slide is taking shape in Lee Park, Venice, where workmen from Poettker Construction Co. were erecting the basic tower Friday. A section of the fibreglass slide, which eventually will be anchored to the tower, is in the foreground. Work also has started on the pool area at the base of the slide. A $200,000 bond issue to finance the project was approved in 1983 by Venice Park District residents.

Insurance board proposed

More than double

THE COST OF INSURANCE

(Last in a series)

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff Writer

Consumers may soon have a say in insurance industry practices.

A campaign to create a Consumer Insurance Board in Illinois has been launched by Patrick Quinn, founder of the Illinois Citizen Utility Board and a member of the Coalition for Political Honesty.

The Consumers Insurance Board would represent the interest of health, life and auto homeowners insurance customers in Illinois, Quinn said.

CIB would hire full-time attorneys, accountants and actuaries to represent consumers before the Department of Insurance and to lobby in state legislature on behalf of consumers. CIB experts also would monitor insurance company practices and help consumers find the best policies for the lowest prices, Quinn said.

"After food, housing and taxes, insurance takes the biggest bite out of the household budget in our state," he said. "The average family spends at least 10 percent of its budget on insurance every year."

Despite the importance of insurance to Illinois families, Quinn said consumers don't have an effective voice in state regulation of insurance.

"The relentless increase in insurance premiums is only one of many complaints to the Illinois Department of Insurance from exasperated consumers," he said. "It is not surprising that upon his retirement, former Illinois Supreme Court Justice John S. Sommers maintained that the regulation of insurance companies is one of the weakest spots in state government."

"There's very little scrutiny of the insurance industry by the Department of Insurance, which is supposed to be the watchdog. The insurance industry runs the Insurance Department instead of vice versa," Quinn said.

Under Quinn's proposal, the Consumer Insurance Board's experts would propose standards for the insurance industry, campaign for reforms and "unravel the many mysteries of the industry for consumers."

Public money would be spent on the board, which would be funded by citizen contributions. Consumers would learn about joining the insurance board from notices inserted in insurance contracts and premium bills.

Check-off boxes enabling applicants to join the board would be added to applications for Illinois drivers licenses and license plates. The Secretary of State would collect the CIB contributions and forward

Mayor not against union bargaining

By JACK C. VENTIMIGLIA
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY Collective bargaining is not opposed by the mayor or the alderman who recently saw a controversial resolution passed by the City Council.

"I'm not anti-labor," Mayor Von Dee Cruse emphatically told the Press-Record/Journal Wednesday. He added he is for, not against, collective bargaining.

In the Oct. 1 edition of a publication serving the AFL/CIO, the Labor Tribune, the lead paragraph contradicts Cruse:

"THE CITY COUNCIL here has passed a resolution, signed by Mayor Von Dee Cruse, which firmly opposes collective bargaining for municipal employees."

The controversy results from a resolution proposed by Alderman Brett Hanke and unanimously passed by the City Council on Oct. 1. The resolution stated the city's opposition to then-proposed federal legislation mandating how a city should conduct collective bargaining.

The resolution stated the opposition was to "any legislation which mandates procedures for collective bargaining, authorizes strikes by public servants or otherwise further erodes the bargaining position of municipalities."

"THE RESOLUTION was not meant to ban collective bargaining, but to keep the federal government from telling cities how collective bargaining should be done," Hanke said.

The bargaining process should be negotiated, Cruse said.

"I endorse collective bargaining," Hanke said.

"I BELIEVE they just misinterpreted the meaning of the resolution," Cruse said of those who have questioned him about the vote. "We've always negotiated as long as I can remember."

In addition to concern about being told how to negotiate, Cruse said council members were concerned the legislation might jeopardize ed citizen safety by allowing city employees to strike.

Cruse's position on the issue was not sought by the Labor Tribune. The publication does not always seek both sides of an issue as a newspaper of general circulation does, said its editor, Sherwood Kerker.

"WE DON'T normally do that," Kerker said. "We're an advocate publication."

In the article, Cruse is quoted — through a second source — as saying unions would not run the city. Cruse said the comment was taken out of context.

"I did say organized labor is not going to run Granite City," Cruse said, but added he had also said, "No specific interest group is going to run Granite City."

A BALANCE must be reached between the needs of union members and judicious use of taxpayers' money, Cruse said.

"I am not opposed to unions," Cruse said. "I think we need them. They're one of the things that made this country great."

"But at the same time, we need to

Comment

Quick, spend!

WASHINGTON — September is the last month of the fiscal year in Washington, and federal agencies will be racing to do almost anything to use up the money Congress has given them. If they don't spend it before Sept. 30, any money left must be returned to the Treasury.

Department of Health and Human Services officials suspect this "use it or lose it" attitude was what caused the Indian Health Service, an arm of the Health and Human Services, to buy $2.4 million worth of computer equipment in September 1984. Noting that it was part of nearly $36 million worth of computer equipment bought in July and September, the investigators wrote in their draft report that this "appeared to be a fourth-quarter dump of the year 1984 funds."

What made the department officials doubly suspicious was the fact that the equipment was bought in 350 "fragmented" purchases, apparently to keep the procurement process from requiring approval from higher up — $150,000 for competitive contracts, $50,000 for sole-source purchases.

According to the draft report of a panel of procurement and management officials, the Indian Health Service "clearly violated" regulations by fragmenting purchases and acted without proper authority. "The report was obtained by our associate Donald Goldberg."

"Our best estimate of the dollar value of the equipment purchased is $5.9 million, of which $3.4 million was bought in September," the report added. That means that the Indian Health Service and its procurement agency, the Public Health Service, "could not readily provide accurate records of how much was spent on the procurement of the equipment, which is an indication of the lack of control over the procurement process at the agency," the draft report stated.

The fragmenting of the purchases into relatively small components also prevented the procurement review from monitoring the operation in time and putting a stop to it, the report indicated.

It's not that the Indian agency didn't follow a risk analysis. Paul H. Hock, director of procurement officials, according to the draft report, warned that the purchases "had all the earmarks of fragmentation and that such an approach violated procurement policy."

Because the investigative panel concluded that the irregularities by Indian officials may have been due to "a sincere desire to serve their constituent tribes," it recommended that the agency take no disciplinary action. The report urged that two officials be required to promise, in writing, that the actions "will not recur" and that the project officer's replacement was recommended "since he is a dentist and does not have the requisite training and experience."

Wilford Forbush, head of the Public Health Service management of procurement, accepted the report's findings. "In general," he wrote in an internal memo we've seen, "I am disappointed with the lack of evidence to support the findings of high degree of subjectivity permeating the draft report." He also rejected the recommendation that the dentist be fired as project officer, because it is unusual and would be interfere with internal management prerogatives.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT: The government's立糖 quota on sugar is a subject I've argued about since it sugar-producing nations in the Caribbean the most, making it tough for them to repay hundreds of billions of dollars in debts to the U.S. government, according to a study by Citizens for a Sound Economy. It has raised the price of sugar on the world market from 3.5 cents to 21 cents a pound, which means an American family nearly $100 a year in added grocery bills. Yet only about 1 percent of American families grow sugar.

CRIMINALERS: Pennsylvania Senator Joseph H. Hildebrand boasted in a recent press release that his investigators initiated some 39,000 criminal cases since 1977.

Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., thinks that number is just a lot of hype. His aides suspect that Sheriff included such dubious cases as 45 dismissed cases, 18 tax overpayment, $26 in unauthorized long-distance telephone charges and $46 in excessive tips claimed on another travel bill.

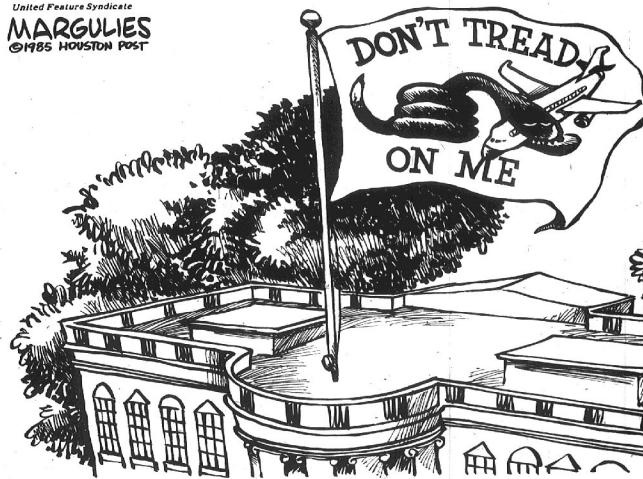

500 MANY LOSSES: The Securities and Exchange Commission has been losing many big cases in federal courts recently, and Rep. Timothy Wirth, D-Colo., wants to know why.

The cases involve the same tactics employed in huge corporate takeovers, both friendly and hostile.

The commission has argued that securities laws do not protect shareholder interests; but the commission keeps coming up on the short end of the judicial stick. Wirth has asked SEC Chairman John Shad for details on the last cases and for suggestions for legislation that would protect shareholders.

Tax increase will help economy grow

Your views

DON KASSING is president of the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College.

On Nov. 5, the citizens of the Tri-City area will be voting on an important educational issue. Belleville Area College is asking the voters to vote "yes" on a 14-cent tax rate increase.

If the referendum passes, 53 percent of the new tax dollars will be used at the Granite City Campus.

Belleville Area College has never asked the voters of its district for a tax increase. Despite the increasing costs, the college has operated with the same tax rate limit for 18 years.

The Granite City Campus currently has over 2,300 students enrolled. Since last January, over 3,500 people have applied to be one of the first on the local campus. We anticipate that, within the next three to five years, the Granite City Campus could grow to 4,000 students.

One of the reasons for this is that a two-year community college is a very affordable way to begin a four-year college degree or to retrain for another career.

The Tri-City area still has a high unemployment rate. The community has experienced some difficult economic times in the last five years. People are reading the signals of a changing job market and are coming to the Granite City Campus to be sure they are prepared for the future. New technology is with us; all one has to do is tour the A.O. Smith Corp. plant in Granite City to realize this. A major portion of A.O. Smith's production operations has been converted to robotics.

This community must be able to retrain workers if this area is to grow economically. Your community college does an excellent job in retraining workers for new high-tech jobs and that's really important for this community.

One way to make sure that our area does not go down economically is to have a good community college.

In a recent survey that we conducted, 81 percent of the people surveyed in Granite City felt it was important to have a full-service community college in the area.

Belleville Area College is asking the citizens to invest in themselves. If the referendum passes, the average homeowner will experience about a $21 a year increase in his/her taxes.

BAC is a small taxing body. Approximately 3 percent of the current property tax rate for BAC if the referendum passes, there will be numerous benefits to the community.

The Tri-Cities will have their own full-service community college. A community educational ladder will be available to the residents.

By its vote, the community will make a dramatic statement to business and industry that it is willing to invest in its future.

This will send a clear message that the Tri-City area wants them to stay and encourage other industries to locate here. The area will gain a new community asset.

Your support of the tax referendum is a vote of confidence for the future.

Old Six Mile Museum features many interesting exhibits

To the Editor:

If you want to go back into history a little bit, all you have to do is spend a few hours at the Old Six Mile Museum in Granite City.

You will be surprised how interesting and unique this museum is, here in our town. You don't have to be a history buff to appreciate the restoration of this building, built in 1837 and now 148 years old.

All the exhibits and items from the past were donated by local people. You will be surprised at the many items on display. The museum is open on Wednesday and Sunday afternoons.

The mother also loves house plants. On earlier visits, I had admired the luscious growth of philodendron, ferns and others on display.

Hanging baskets in front of mirrored wall strips complemented the living room's decor, creating the illusion of spaciousness.

On my recent visit, I found the same room looked stunted and cut back. No longer did the foliage spill downward within a few feet of the carpet.

It was from this young couple that I learned of another 20-month-old daughter of their friends, a child who had become violently ill.

Constitution protects liberty

To the Editor:

Constitution Week this fall was an important week, commemorating the signing of the Constitution of the United States.

It is the oldest constitution still in active use in the world today, and it is the basic document of the United States government — a government which protects the individual liberties of its citizens.

The Daughters of the American Revolution are urging all Americans to strive to be worthy of its protection. Let's study our Constitution.

YALE DRIVE RESIDENT

Inspired by story on hero

To the Editor:

I am writing in regard to the article on Walter Ledbetter ("Helpful resident now needing help," Sunday, Oct. 13).

In this day and age — when we have become so immune, and fatigued at times that no one cares — it is inspiring to read of this young man's courage.

Regardless of the consequences to himself, and there were many, he went to a stranger's aid. Maybe now someone will come to his aid.

When you hear that "there are no more heroes," people like this tend to renew your faith.

Off-, on-record comments often misunderstood by public

"Off the record" is an often misused phrase.

Often, reporters are shown listening to some pompous political shyster blustering inane- about rhinutria and at the close of the harangue the reporter stupidly asks, "Ah, senator, can I quote you on that?"

"Said docto brain."

Once, I heard a reporter at a city council meeting ask a businessman if what the man said could be quoted. That 1980s journalist sound-

Groundwater meeting slated Oct. 23 in Alton

An informational meeting on a proposed groundwater protection plan is set for 7 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 23, at the Stratford Hotel, 220 Mackay St. Alton.

It is one of nine public workshops this month sponsored by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency. The workshops are designed to solicit public opinion and serve as a forum to increase awareness of groundwater pollution issues," said IEPA Director Richard J. Carlson.

They precede the development of a statewide plan on a state groundwater plan. "It is our objective to find out the public's preference on policies and approaches to groundwater protection, and then incorporate that in the public policy and legislative process," Carlson said. A hearing is set for the Collomville Holiday Inn from noon to 5 p.m. Wednesday Nov. 20.

"Everyday, nearly a billion gallons of groundwater is used by homes, factories, businesses and farms. Nearly half of the state's population is directly dependent on groundwater, and the rural population depends almost totally on groundwater for domestic supplies," Carlson said.

"Today, concerns about groundwater quality tend to center on a variety of toxic and hazardous substances used in industry, business, and daily life. Many of these substances do not break down readily in groundwater, so they may become permanent contaminants of groundwater."

"In many cases, testing for these is much more difficult and expensive than it was for the groundwater contaminants of concern in the past. The facts make it generally preferable and cheaper — to prevent contamination rather than to try to correct it."

The plan for protection of groundwater is being prepared by IEPA at the direction of the Illinois General Assembly and Gov. James R. Thompson.

State law requires that the plan identify critical groundwater "particularly susceptible" to contamination by industrial substances, and identify "probable sources of such contamination." It will recommend steps to take to prevent water quality degradation in these areas. Further, the plan may advise establishment of a system to classify groundwater and the rural population based on their quality and use.

Following the hearings, the IEPA will present the plan to the governor, General Assembly and Pollution Control Board. The agency will make recommendations for any legislation, regulations or administrative changes needed to implement the plan.

Townships to give out commodities this week

Officials in Chouteau and Venice townships and the Salvation Army plan to give out surplus government commodities this week.

Commodities will include processed cheese, rice, butter, dry milk, honey, cornmeal and flour.

The rice, honey, cornmeal, dry milk and flour are all in short supply, and persons will be asked to take their choice of one.

All products will be given out on a first-come, first-served basis by ticketed number received at the door.

To be eligible to receive commodities, persons must be residents of the township where they are getting the check.

The person must be the head of a household or the spouse, have their Social Security number, and sign an affidavit that their total household income is within the guidelines.

Recipients are to bring some proof of residency other than a driver's license.

An unpaid utility bill or a voter's registration card is adequate, officials said.

Monthly income guidelines are as follows: one-person family, $547; two in the family, $735; three persons, $923; four persons, $1,110; five persons, $1,300; six persons, $1,485; seven persons, $1,673; eight persons, $1,860; and $1,948 for each additional member of the household.

Chouteau Township will begin distribution at 9 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 23, at the Chouteau Township Social Center, 697a N. Thorngate Drive, Mitchell. The doors will not be opened until 8 a.m.

Venice Township will give out commodities at 9 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 24, at Engelbert Hall, 10th Street and Washington Avenue, Madison. Township officials note there will be no discrimination on the basis of race, sex, creed or national origin.

They also advise that children under 18 months of age not be fed the honey.

The Salvation Army, 3007 E. 23rd St., will begin distribution of commodities to Granite City Township residents at 9 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 24. A representative said commodities will be distributed even if there is inclement weather.

Razing of two houses sought by city

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff Writer

VENICE - Legal steps against owners of property considered to be a menace to public health and safety have been authorized by the City Council.

Constant complaints have surfaced at Venice council sessions about the property described in two resolutions adopted Tuesday night.

Reports about the dwellings, prepared by Venice Building Inspector Joe M. Brooks Jr. and read to the aldermen, requested condemnation proceedings.

BROKEN WINDOWS, doors beyond repair and deteriorated siding, creating an unsafe building which fails to comply with minimum health and safety codes, is the property at 1321 Robin Street, said to be owned by Ida Radman and Sheila Radman of University City, Mo. A second recommendation from Brooks concerned a one-story frame house at 1325 Robin Street, owned by Charles McCaskill of Edwardsville. The structure has no roof and no interior walls and the windows and doors are beyond repair, Brooks said.

STRUCTURAL DEFECTS, plus the damage and deterioration, show both buildings to be "eminently dangerous to the public," a public statement in the resolution stated.

The property owners have 15 days to demolish them or to put the buildings in safe condition.

If the city is required to wreck the structures, the owners are to pay the cost of demolition work or a lien will be filed against the property, the resolution adds.

Woody Herman slated at Powell

Woody Herman and his band, the "Thundering Herd," open the new variety series in St. Louis called The "Big Band Bash" at 8 p.m. Monday, Oct. 21. All programs in the choice of St. Louis are at Powell Symphony Hall, 718 N. Grand, St. Louis.

Special guest star for this one-time performance is clarinetist Richard Stoltzman.

With his tour of the U.S., Herman is celebrating his 50th year in show business. At the beginning of his career, he was a member of several name bands, including the Tom Gruen and Isham Jones bands, as a saxophone player, clarinetist and singer.

When Jones, composer of "I'll See You in My Dreams," "It Had to Be You" and other standards, decided to disband, Herman took over the "Band That Played the Blues."

In November 1936, Herman and his band made their debut at the Roseland Ballroom in Brooklyn. A few months later they made the big time in New York's Manhattan.

Early favorites by the group were "Blues on Parade," "Blue Prelude" and "Blue Flame," his familiar theme song. His biggest hit of all, however, was "Woodchopper's Ball," still one of the most recorded pieces in the last 50 years. It has sold over 5 million copies. Herman also recorded with other artists such as Bing Crosby and the Andrew Sisters.

In the late '30s, Herman's orchestra was playing all the "remote broadcast" showplaces: Frank Daley's Meadowbrook, the Glen Island Casino, the Panthere Room of the Chicago Hotel, the New York Hotel and 22nd Street's renowned "Famous Door."

Gradually, through the '40s, the band shifted from the blues and semi-Dixieland to the more sophisticated style of Jimmie Lunceford and Artie Shaw, the man's hero and inspiration. The band recorded such hits as "Blues in the Night" (another million-selling record), "Golden Wedding," "Amen" and "Do Nothing 'Till You Hear from Me."

In 1944, Herman became sole owner of the band, which by 1945 became one of the most popular bands of the time. Dubbed "The Thundering Herd" by critic George Simon, he produced a jazz solo everywhere he had his own radio show, appeared in films and continued to record such hits as "Laura" (a third million-selling record), "Caladonia," "Caladonia! What a Yeller Big Head So Hard?" "Apple Honey," "Goosey Gander," "Bijou," "Northwest Passage" and "Wildroot."

Composer Igor Stravinsky was so impressed with Herman and his musical ideas that he wrote the only piece for the band's orchestra, "Elegy for Concerto," for the Herd's famous 1944 Carnegie Hall concert. More Herman hits, which were to become all-time classics, followed, among them "The Good Earth," "Sidewalks of Cuba," "Blown Up A Storm," "Early Autumn" and "Four Brothers."

Among them, "The Big Band Bash" and a PBS 90-minute documentary entitled "Woody" were dubbed by "Billboard Magazine" as "the best documentary ever produced on a musical performer." In addition, he was featured twice on PBS-Radio's popular "Jazz Alive" series, once live from Carnegie Hall and more recently from Washington D.C.'s Smithsonian Institute.

As soloist with over 70 orchestras, as a recitalist and chamber music performer, and as a Grammy award-winning RCA artist, Stoltzman has in the past few years achieved the kind of prominence that eludes all but a handful of artists.

Stoltzman's expanding discography has produced a discography for the foremost of internationally acclaimed musicians. In the category of Best Chamber Music Performance, which included James Galway, the Guarneri Quartet, Lynn Harrell and Vladimir Ashkenazy, and the Cleveland Quartet with Pinchas Zukerman and Bernard Greenhouse, Stoltzman's album of Brahms Clarinet Sonatas performed with Richard Goode captured the award.

Under an exclusive RCA Red Seal contract, Stoltzman again received a Grammy nomination in 1984 for concertos by Mozart, Weber and Rossini recorded with Alexander Schneider and the San Francisco Festival Orchestra. He has also recorded the Mozart A major and B-flat major concertos with Schneider and the English Chamber Orchestra, which was hailed as the performance of a lifetime" by the New York Times.

A favorite among European music-lovers, Stoltzman returns to Europe several times each year. As Artist of the Week at the 1980 Edinburgh Festival, St. Louis conservatory students saw the scope of his versatility in a week of performances as soloists in the Copland Concerto with London Symphony and a classical recital with Emmanuel Ax.

A highlight of Stoltzman's career was his debut in 1982 at Carnegie Hall as the first clarinetist ever to be presented there in recital. Offering a program of Brahms, Weber and Debussy, together with a jazz medley, "Trilby," Bach's solo violin capriccio and the essence of Stoltzman's artistry. The concert was such a success that Stoltzman was immediately re-engaged for a recital in 1984, which featured a program ranging from Bach to a group of Thelonious Monk tunes played with bassist Eddie Gomez.

School funds tied to cigarette taxes; governor orders hiring freeze, review of expenditures

The state administration immediately will seek to "restore lost revenues and institute cost-saving actions," warning that failure to do so could endanger education funding.

"Over the past several weeks," Gov. James Thompson said in a letter to legislators Oct. 15, "a number of changes have been made in the financial outlook for the state. The impact this year will be to bring our year-end balance below the $200 million warning zone."

The two-year impact of these changes is to reduce the multi-year funding commitment for education. Revenues originally assumed in the budget for fiscal year 1985-86, but not lost, need to be restored."

Thompson said the changes have lowered the expected June 30, 1986, available balance from $404 million to $177 million.

Those changes include: additional tax relief for Illinois residents (House Bill 18); increased revenue sharing with local governments (Senate Bill 330); increased need for corporate and individual income tax refunds; and a reduction by Congress of a federal cigarette tax cut. The state planned to add eight cents to the state cigarette tax if the U.S. cigarette tax decreased by that amount.

The governor said the effect of these four actions is a $227 million reduction in the state's FY 86 ending available balance.

To meet current state needs, Thompson said, he ordered the hiring freeze committee to deny all exemption requests except those honoring made to individuals — and for those positions where life, health and safety are at risk — for positions to implement new programs mandated by the General Assembly.

Second, all expenditures for purchase of equipment and services will be reviewed carefully to provide additional savings in the current fiscal year, he said.

Gov. Thompson said it is imperative to restore the cigarette tax revenues assumed in the current year's budget.

"These revenues, which total $182 million in FY 86 and FY 87, are an essential element in meeting future funding commitments to education."

"Even with these actions, significant reductions in spending will have to be made to meet the promise we all made to education just three months ago. Without these steps, we cannot keep that promise," he said.

Halloween safety backed by PTA

Halloween is a special holiday for children. However, parents have recently become concerned about the safety of children who trick-or-treat.

Ami Kahn, National PTA president, said, "The PTA has always been concerned about children's Halloween safety. That's why we're asking parents and local PTAs to use precautions to prevent any potential problems or to offer alternatives to trick-or-treating by organizing neighborhood activities."

Here are suggestions from the National PTA to help make Halloween a safe, happy holiday for children and their parents:

— Accompany children on their treat-gathering route.

— Avoid unfamiliar neighborhoods or homes of strangers.

— Tell children not to sample anything until they return home so that the treats can be inspected for possible tampering.

— Tell children to politely decline any invitation to enter a home or to go inside. Encourage children to encourage children you don't know to enter your home. Give manufacturer-wrapped treats rather than home-made goodies.

— Make sure masks do not obstruct peripheral vision, or use makeup instead of masks.

See that costumes are short enough so youngsters don't trip. Bright colors and reflectorized costumes are more visible.

Costumes are purchased at a store, make sure they are "Flame-Proof." This includes masks, wigs and beards.

— For older kids without adult chaperones, the first rule is always to travel in groups and never alone.

For parents who do not want to participate in trick-or-treating, the following activities could be coordinated by a local PTA, Kahn said.

1. Host an all-school Halloween party and invite children to come in costume and wear masks. Present awards for the best and most original costume from each classroom.

2. Host a house party for children and their friends. Encourage children to dress as their favorite characters, and have each child tell his or her character's life story. Have treats for them and let them bob for apples. Arrange a treasure hunt in and around the house.

3. Weather permitting, stage a Halloween block party for families in the area one day during the weekend before or after Halloween. Encourage everyone to attend in costume. Bring homebaked goodies to share.

Warrior Upset! Gridders down Redbirds; defense is superb

GCHS squad stiffens to meet Alton challenge

By GARY KING
Staff writer

On sure, there have been bigger upsets... perhaps.

Perhaps the United States' hockey victory over the Russians in the 1980 Olympics was bigger, or maybe when Rocky Balboa beat Clubber Lang in the movie "Rocky III". Those might, just might, have been as astonishing as Granite City's 17-12 victory over the Alton Redbirds. Maybe.

The Warriors entered Friday night's showdown sporting a 2-4 record. The Redbirds were boasting a 4-2 record, with only one loss coming at the hands of East St. Louis last week (but who hasn't lost to East St. Louis, right?).

Alton is noted for its outstanding speed. Granite City is not. Alton is

The half ended with the Warriors clinging to a 14-6 lead. Hey, what happened to the cakewalk?

The third quarter was marked by long, time consuming drives. First, Alton opened the half with a nine-play effort which ate up four minutes of the clock. However, their drive stalled at the Warrior 44-yard line.

Granite City countered with a 14-play romp down the field. It appeared the Warriors had won the Warrier failed to convert on third and eight from Alton's 29. However, Granite City's Ryan Weeks strong-legged a 45-yard field goal giving the Warriors a 17-6 lead with one quarter remaining to be played.

Alton attempted a comeback late in the fourth quarter when Herd took a broken play and gained a 75-yard touchdown. Unfortunately, for the Redbirds, it was too little, too late.

After the game Granite City coach Ron Yates was exuberant, and with good reason. His Warriors not only had won, they had dominated. On the evening Granite City had gained 275 yards, Alton managed only 133.

"This is the biggest win a Granite City football team has had in years.

"This is the biggest win a Granite City football team has had in years. I'm real proud of the guys, they showed a lot of character out there tonight. They really wanted this one."

noted for its potent offense. The Warrior defense has been questionable all season. This game was going to be a cakewalk, right?

Wrong. The contest began with few surprises. The Warriors took the opening kickoff, rushed on their first three plays, gained only five yards, and then stalled.

Alton took over possession on its own 18-yard line following a 30-yard punt from Warrior Steve Davis. Ten plays, and 82 yards later, the Redbirds were in the end zone. On Tony Herd's 27-yard romp around right end one drive, one touchdown. It looked like Herd was in for a long day at the office.

Granite City began its second drive of the evening on their own 32 following Alton's kickoff. After picking up a quick first down, the Warriors were flagged with an offside penalty which moved the ball back to the 27.

Facing a second and 10 situation, Granite City opted to run what is called a "poker 53". After center Kip Simpson and left guard Steve McElroy exchanged holes big enough to hold a picnic on, David Tatum dashed through the opening and went 62 yards for the Warriors first score of the evening.

After taking the ensuing Warrior kickoff off of their own 41, the Redbirds appeared to be headed for six more points. With the ball resting on the Warrior 17, Herd botched the snap from center. The loose ball was recovered by Granite City's Scott Leath, thus ending Alton's threat.

Following a 16-yard punt by Alton's Doug Brooks, the Warriors took over on their own 49 with 8:05 remaining in the first half.

After having marched slowly, but surely down the field, Granite City was faced with third and five from the Redbird 17. Enter the Hogan-to-Hogan connection. Quarterback Tim lofted a pass to brother Jamie, who made a spectacular diving catch in the endzone, for the Warriors' second touchdown of the night.

I'm real proud of the guys, they showed a lot of character out there tonight. They really wanted this one.

Jack Martin, Alton's coach, was not quite as pleased with his squads' effort. In fact, he was a little upset with the attitude of his players.

"We should have won the game, but our kids came out here thinking they had another cakewalk," said Martin.

"Somehow, with some strange misfortune, the Warriors were able to contain the potent Redbird offense. Granite City defensive coordinator Bob Stegemeier accredited the success of the defense to the 'team effort' his squad exhibited."

"I'm proud of our players, they did a super job. The ends shut down Alton's outside game, and my defensive line clogged up the middle. It was a total team effort, it was their (the defense) effort this year," said an elated Stegemeier.

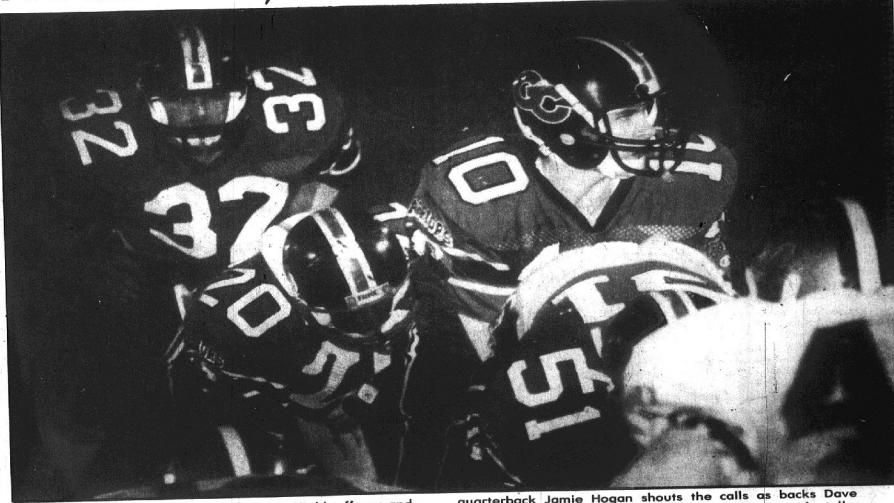

Alton, it was a total team effort, one Warrior who had a super night was David Tatum. Tatum rushed for 110 yards on 20 carries, including a 62-yard run down the middle. It was a total team effort, it was their (the defense) effort this year," said an elated Stegemeier.

"The offensive line was great, I just can't say enough about the job they did. They just overpowered Alton, blew them right off the field. Ron (fullback) Owens backed up really well," said a tired, bruised Tatum.

The offensive line played well, the defensive line played well, the backs and receivers played well. They wait a minute, the entire team played well. In fact, they played well enough to turn Alton's 'cakewalk' into a pie in the face.

MOVING THE BALL. Granite City High's offense and defense were superb in Friday night's Southwestern Conference football game with Alton. Above is a look over the Warrior line into its backfield. Behind center Kip Simpson, quarterback Jamie Hogan shouts the calls as backs Dave Tatum and Ron Owens wait for the snap. Tatum, incidentally, had his best game of the season as he rushed for 110 yards on 20 carries as the Warriors upset Alton 17-12.
